Special Assessment Task Force

3/28/2022 - Minutes

1. Welcome And Introductions

The subcommittee of the Special Assessment Task Force is composed of Dustin Dawrylow, Kate Herzog, Mike Schmitz, Kevin Strege, and Commissioner Splonskowski.

2. Look At And Address The Current Consensus Of The Task Force And Adopt Or Adjust The Current Layout Of That Plan.

Dustin Gawrylow provided draft Home Rule Charter ballot language for the committee's consideration. The intent is to levy and collect an infrastructure fee for street maintenance purposes. The group discussed the six components of the draft language. The group discussed the concept of ensuring street utility fees would be used for street maintenance projects that are currently bonded through special assessments and not used for regular Public Works Service Operations associated with small-scale street maintenance projects. Consideration was given to an online calculator where the public could review the estimated monthly street utility fee on a parcel by parcel basis. The subcommittee members agreed to review the draft ballot language provided by Gawrylow prior to the next meeting.

3. Address The Residential Rates And Tiers As Currently Laid Out.

The group agreed at the next meeting to discuss the impacts to other political subdivisions such as Bismarck Public Schools and Bismarck Parks and Recreation District. The current North Dakota Century Code language may need to be addressed at a future legislative assembly in 2023.

4. Address The Commercial Rates And Tiers As Currently Laid Out.

The general consensus of the subcommittee is to review the proposed fee schedule and tier structure provided by City Engineer Scheel at the next meeting. The subcommittee members received information from David Witham (See Attached), Vaughn Jund, and Harley Swenson.

17. To levy and collect an infrastructure fee for street maintenance purposes.

a. For the purposes of this fee, "street maintenance" shall be defined as any maintenance activity not financed by the city's general fund prior to enactment of this amendment or prior to January 1st, 2022. The city commission shall enact ordinance defining and itemizing this scope, and may expand this scope only with unanimous roll call vote, renewed annually, during the budget process.

b. During the budget process, the city commission shall task staff to develop and submit draft maintenance schedules for maintenance expectations for the next three (3) years. Any changes made to said plan should be explained. Any changes made to current year project priorities must be justified by a process defined by the city commission.

c. The city commission shall develop and enact into ordinance a process to allow for residents to request an evaluation of their street if they believe the street should be included in the three-year maintenance schedule (similar to the process previously used for residents to request their own special assessment district).

d. No less than ninety (90) day prior to the transition away from special assessments and to new infrastructure fee, the city commission shall develop a comprehensive policy detailing how the new infrastructure fee will work. The city shall hold no fewer than four (4) public input meetings subsequent to drafting and prior to final approval of by the full commission.

e. The city commission shall develop a user-friendly internet based interface for residents to determine their financial impact of this fee. The city commission shall establish a protocol prior to approval outlining its action if this fee exceeds 15% of the estimate in the first year.

f. The city commission shall include in its draft and final policy provisions outlining taxpayer protections related to inflation, surplus ending fund balance, and revenue shortfalls.
